Winter Weather Update

SAVANNAH, GA (January 4, 2018) – Due to icy winter weather conditions brought on by Winter Storm Grayson, Chatham County offices, Operations, and Courts will reopen on Friday, January 5th at noon. Essential personnel as defined by the Department Head or Elected Official, may be required to report to work before noon and should contact their supervisor for reporting instructions. Additionally, all Detention Center staff are required to report for duty at their normal scheduled time. Those reporting to work should exercise caution when driving as roads may still be frozen.

According to the National Weather Service, temperatures will drop to around 18 °F this evening. Icy streets and many road closures remain. Ice that has melted during the day will refreeze and black ice can develop, which is not highly visible at night. Citizens should still avoid any unnecessary driving especially during the evening.
