CEMA Partners with Local Elementary Schools and the American Red Cross to Teach Youth Emergency Preparedness

Chatham County, GA (September 20, 2018) – To kick off Prepare-A-Thon, CEMA has partnered with two local elementary schools to bring the American Red Cross Pillowcase Project to grades 2-5. Students will receive a sturdy pillowcase and CEMA drawstring backpack to help them build a personal emergency supply kit. CEMA's goal is to teach 1,000 children about hurricanes and home fire safety. The Pillowcase Project will happen at two different schools during the week of Prepare-A-Thon.

Friday, September 21, 2018: Gould Elementary School

Monday, September 24, 2018: Pulaski Elementary School
